REFLECTION FOR EASTER

The tomb is empty. The angels are gathering.
Mary is searching. The men are keeping watch.
Peter is running. Death is gone silent.
The songbirds are dancing.
The primroses are singing.
The clouds are running for shelter.
The air is fragrant with wonder.
A great stone has been rolled away and life is moving into every space.
Our star, the sun, is on fire with light.
The colours are everywhere, deep with amazement.
We, the people have gathered, still with mystery.
We have risen with the dawn to be the witnesses, to tell the news.
We have risen with Mary to hear him speak our names and take away our fear, for ever.
Nothing will ever be the same again;
Love has pleaded our cause before God and love has won the victory.
He came that we might have life .
He found us in our lost places and he carried us home.
This is the day when heaven and earth embrace. This is the hour of great joy.
At the dawning of the day we cry out to all the world:
Christ is risen; he is risen indeed, alleluia, alleluia, alleluia.
