FEAST OF CHRIST THE KING

Just as the farmer, when he girds himself to cultivate the soil, must take the tools and clothing for cultivating, so Christ the king, the heavenly and true cultivator, when he came to humanity made barren by evil, put on the body and carried the cross as his tools, and worked the barren soul and removed from it the thorns and thistles of evil spirits, and pulled up the weeds of sin and burned up with fire every weed of its sins. And in this way he cultivated it with the wood of the cross.

Pseudo-Macarius (C. 390)
